*Lewis And Clark:
A Synopsis*

In 1804, the United States, under the leadership of President Thomas Jefferson, commissioned Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, to travel, explore, and chart the new territories of the Louisiana Purchase. These brave men, and the companions York, Charbonneau, Sacajawea, along with the trusty dog Scannon traveled up the Missouri River, over the Rocky Mountains, and down the Columbia River, all the way to the Pacific Ocean. Their remarkable story comes to life in the clever 45-minute musical adaptation by Roger Emerson and John Jacobson.

Director Notes

The Adventures of Lewis and Clark 2010

Dear Supporters of the Arts:

I can't tell you how excited I am each summer to see so many parents who decide to enroll their child in our camps. Thank you. But you make this happen for your kids because you know the importance of art in their lives. As director I believe that I have one main responsibility to students: This is to create opportunities for students to gain confidence in themselves.

On the first day of camp, I look around the room at all the students who are eager to create something unique and special. I must admit that I am specifically looking for students who are trying to hide from me! I make a special effort to connect with these students who may need an extra "nudge." And I know that I'm not alone. The staff of OCPA makes a genuine effort to create a safe environment where all students feel successful. Thanks for entrusting us with your precious children and enjoy the show.

Warmly,

Andrew Brock, Director/Choreographer
The Adventures of Lewis and Clark 2010

Our Mission

The mission of the Oregon Conservatory of Performing Arts is to empower and nurture youth of every cultural heritage, ability and level of interest through education and performance in the theatre arts.

Our Values

We believe that all young people should have the opportunity to experience the theatre arts that a complete education involves knowledge of the arts and participation in them. We teach the process of theatre, helping kids develop self-esteem and communication skills through creativity and teamwork.
