Our Mission

The mission of the Oregon Conservatory of Performing Arts is to keep the performing arts alive and within reach of everyone in our community.

Our Values

We believe that all young people should have the opportunity to experience the theatre arts — that a complete education involves knowledge of the arts and participation in them. We teach the process of theatre, helping kids develop self-esteem and communication skills through creativity and teamwork.

Director's Notes

Each summer I am amazed at how much students and staff accomplish in such a short amount of time. The children who attend our camps, as a whole, are very captivated by the process of creating a work of art and throw themselves into it whole-heartedly. In my experience with professional theatre, "professionals" often bring hang-ups and egos that make the rehearsal schedule painful and it isn't until after the final performance that I can relax. Not the case with our youngsters.

I am very pleased that students enjoy what OCPA has to offer but I think I enjoy it more. I am fortunate to be allowed to instruct these enthusiastic and impressionable children, who shoulder the responsibility of putting together a quality musical performance for their family and friends without complaining or whining. Perhaps they don't know any better but after the first week, when they are worn down and tired, and after they find out how difficult learning to sing, dance, act, memorizing lines and choreography can be, they arrive for Week 2 ready for more. Many of our students this summer had little to no stage experience and to watch them come into their own and discover their potential is a great joy for me.

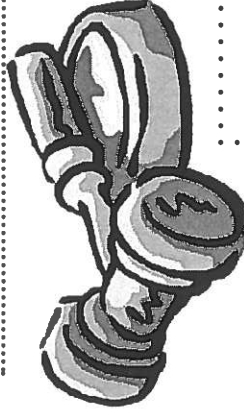

I can't think of another job on the planet that offers this kind of satisfaction. I'm sorry I can't do this full-time, all yearlong. So many details need to be taken care of during campy, and kudos go out to our support staff, especially Jeff, Laura, our stage manager, and the Dewar sisters. To be performing on a real stage at Central High is both scary and a treat for students and adults. I wish our cast only the best, remember to have fun, and "leave it ALL out on stage!"

Thank you, parents and friends of OCPA....
Yours,
Andrew Brock

The Trial of the Big Bad Wolf has been a lot of fun for all of us. Each cast has its own personality, but this group has been especially sweet to work with. They operate with an open mind, and a willing and cooperative attitude. Break a leg, talented actors!
